Decision (in absence of the Respondent)

The First-tier Tribunal for Scotland (Housing and Property Chamber) (“the Tribunal”) determined that

Background

1. An application had been received under Rule 109 of the First Tier Tribunal for Scotland (Housing and Property Chamber) (Procedure) Regulations 2017 (“the 2017 Rules”) seeking recovery of possession under a private residential tenancy by the Applicant against the Respondent for the Property.
2. The application contained:-
 - a copy of the tenancy agreement,
 - a copy of the notice to leave with evidence of service
 - a copy section 11 Notice
 - a copy of the Respondent’s rental statement

3. The Applicant's letting agent Mark McDonald, from Fife Letting Service Ltd appeared on behalf of the Applicant. There was no appearance by the Respondent.
4. Notice of the Hearing and the application had been served on the Respondent by sheriff officers on 28 August 2019. As I was satisfied that the Respondent had been served with notice of today's hearing I was therefore prepared to proceed with today's hearing in her absence.

Hearing

5. The Applicant's representative referred me to the papers which had been lodged in support of the application, including the tenancy agreement, the notice to leave and evidence of service of it. He confirmed that the notice to leave had been served by email. He advised that the Respondent had stopped paying her rent in April 2019 and there had been no further payments since then. He advised that the letting agent had attempted to contact her on a number of occasions to get her to repay her rent but these attempts had been unsuccessful. He advised that the Respondent was well aware of the need to pay her rent and the rent arrears. He understood that she was working full time.
6. He advised that the notice to leave sought eviction under Ground 12, rent arrears for a period of more than 3 months.
7. He advised that the current level of arrears were £2,460. He advised that the arrears had gone up since the notice to leave had been sent to the Respondent. The rent arrears had been on the rent account for a period exceeding three consecutive months.
8. He did not consider that the arrears were due in part or wholly due to a delay in the payment of relevant benefits.
9. The Applicant's representative advised that the Respondent was in rent arrears for a period of more than three consecutive months, and those rent arrears totalled more than one months' rent, and he did not consider that there were outstanding benefits issues causing the arrears. He submitted therefore that the Applicant was seeking an order for recovery of the possession of the property under the rent arrears ground.

Findings in Fact

10. The Tribunal found the following facts established:-
11. There existed a private residential tenancy between the Applicant and the Respondent. It had commenced on 9 November 2018.

12. Clause 6 of the Tenancy Agreement provides that the rent for the property is £400 per calendar month. It is payable in advance and due on the 9th of each month.
13. There was a notice to leave addressed to the Respondent. It contained information for the Respondent as to why an eviction order was sought. It confirmed that proceedings would not be brought until 7 July 2019. It had been served on the Respondent by email on 6 June 2019. The ground in the notice to leave was ground 12 "you are in rent arrears over three consecutive months".
14. That rent arrears had been outstanding since 29 March 2019.
15. There are rent arrears outstanding at today's date totalling at least one month's rental due under the tenancy.
16. The arrears did not appear to have been caused by any delay or failure in the payment of a relevant benefit.
17. The section 11 notice had been sent to the local authority providing them with notice of the intention to raise recovery proceedings.

Reasons for Decision

18. Section 51 of the 2016 Act provides the Tribunal with a power to grant an order for eviction for a private residential tenancy, if it found that one of the grounds in schedule 3 of the Act applies.
19. The ground which the Applicant seeks eviction under is ground 12 rent arrears.
20. Sub paragraph 1 states that "It is an eviction ground that the tenant has been in rent arrears for three or month consecutive months."
21. Sub paragraph 2 provides that the Tribunal must find that the grounds named in sub-paragraph 1 applies if (a) at the beginning of the day on which the Tribunal first considers the application for an eviction order on its merits, the tenant-(i) is in arrears of rent by an amount equal to or greater than the amount which would be payment as one month's rent under the tenancy on that day; and (ii) has been in arrears of rent ... for a continuous period, up to and including that day, of three or more consecutive months; and (b) the Tribunal is satisfied that the tenant's being in arrears is not wholly or partly a consequence of a delay or failure in the payment of a relevant benefit.
22. I found that the terms of sub-paragraph 2 were met and accordingly, I consider that I must find that the ground in sub paragraph 1 applies; I have found the other statutory requirements to have been complied with; and therefore consider that I am required to grant an eviction order in terms of ground 12 rent arrears.

Decision

23. The Tribunal grants an order in favour of the Applicant against the Respondent for recovery of possession of the private residential tenancy under ground 12 of schedule 3 of the Private Housing (Tenancies) (Scotland) Act 2016.

Right of Appeal

In terms of Section 46 of the Tribunal (Scotland) Act 2014, a party aggrieved by the decision of the Tribunal may appeal to the Upper Tribunal for Scotland on a point of law only. Before an appeal can be made to the Upper Tribunal, the party must first seek permission to appeal from the First-tier Tribunal. That party must seek permission to appeal within 30 days of the date the decision was sent to them.
